Summary of Legislation: (Amended) The bill adjusts census numbers in statutes. The bill changes population parameters in various statutes to reflect the population count determined under the 2010 decennial census. The bill specifies that changes in population parameters in legislation enacted during the 2012 regular session take effect April 1, 2012. The bill updates multipliers that are based on a county's population and used in determining distributions made by the Department of Correction to county misdemeanor funds.

The bill substitutes names for population parameters in the following types of statutes: (1) Statutes legalizing certain actions of particular political subdivisions. (2) Statutes that have been challenged unsuccessfully as special or local legislation. (3) Statutes reserving certain powers to certain political subdivisions at the time of recodification of laws relating to political subdivisions. The bill resolves a conflict in the statute that defines the classes of cities to provide that a city becomes a first class city when the city attains a population of 600,000. The bill makes conforming amendments.

(The introduced version of this bill was prepared by the Census Data Advisory Committee.)
